Seven Boys Will Go To Ponoka

Raymond's entries in the Boxing Eliminations at Cardston Wednesday night, came thru with flying colors and brought honors to themselves and to the town. Out of nine boys who entered, seven of them earned their way to the provincial finals to take place in Ponoka on April 14th, and will leave Cardston with the other boys from the south to make that date.

Quite a contingent of fans from here accompanied the boys, and they said that some of the finest bouts ever staged in the Cardston gym were watched there on Wednesday night, and one of the best of all was the fight between Renn Mitchell who is training our leather pushers, and Movell Purnell of Cardston, in the 147 lb. Class. A toe to toe fight from the first to the last bell, these boys really gave all they had and while Purnell was given the decision, it was a close one and Mitchell put up a mighty fine scrap.

Amongst those from Raymond who assisted in the card were Cyril Layne who acted as one of the judges, Rayo Woolf who was scale master for the weigh ins, Vely Heggie who helped look after the boys, Golden Snow, President of the local Association and others.

The boys who won and lost were: Billy Lafferty, 70lbs; Bob by Lafferty, 80 lbs; Doug Allen 100 lbs; Harold Jamieson, did not fight in Cardston as there was no one his weight in the 112 lb. class, but he will represent Raymond in the finals. Hugh Court also 112, withdrew in favor of Jamieson; Jerry Witbeck won in the 126 lb. Novice; Cam Dixon will represent Raymond in the 135 lb. class in the finals, and boxed Hugh Sloan in the 126 lb. open in Cardston Wednesday in a non-title bout.

Congratulations to the boys for their fine showing, and here's hoping them success in the finals at Ponoka. Comments indicate that Mitchell is doing a real job of coaching the boys and some of them have improved considerably.

"The Wingless Victory"

Drama lovers of Raymond were treated to something decidedly different Saturday night when the Little Theatre Group, directed by John S. Smith of Cardston, put on the three act tragedy "The Wingless Victory" to a well filled house in the Raymond 2nd Ward.

When we commence to comment on this performance our adjectives seem to fail us. It was an entirely different type of play to the usual amateur theatrical. It carried an air of suspense and expectancy from the first curtain to the last, and the last scene, broken hearts and death because of the tragedy, left the audience with a lump in their throat and a hazy relief to their eyes, and the lack of applause only added to the glory of the cast in their efforts.

The play was exceptionally well cast and the leading characters particularly gave a wonderful interpretation to their roles. Mrs. Dowdle and Mrs. Niebauer in the roles of princess and servant girl, were superb. We certainly congratulate the Cardston players one and all for their fine performance and Raymond invites them to come again and often with their offerings.

TRAINING IN FIRST AID AT RAYMOND

For the fourth year in succession training in First Aid to the injured, has been made available to the employees of the Raymond Sugar Factory and incidentally to the Senior Scouts of the town and District.

The Management of the Canadian Sugar Factories and the Factory Accident Prevention Committee are to be congratulated on the establishment of such an excellent record. Both the interest taken by the Safety Committee and the material support given by the Sugar Company are the chief factors which have made the maintenance of the training program possible, year after year.

It may, with some pride, be noted that the policy of encouraging the training in First-Aid has borne fruits of providing, through the Factory and the Town, men who are capable of doing a competent first aid job when an emergency arises. This acquires a new significance to the individuals and community generally when we remember the present war emergencies.

It was a great satisfaction to hear Dr. Madill when, upon examining the class, he announced that all 34 successfully passed and that in his recent experiences here in town he had encountered a number of cases when accidental injuries had been well treated by the first aiders before his arrival which prevented aggravation of the injuries and led to speedy recovery of the injured parties. He gave much credit for this to the lecturer - instructor of the class and interest of the members generally.

As during the previous years the course of training was carried out under the auspices of the St. John's Ambulance Association in cooperation with the Compensation Board of Alberta the lecturer and instructor was again Mr. E. Christie Superintendent of Mine Rescue Station of Lethbridge, while the Medical examiner was Dr. J. S. Madill of Raymond.

All twelve 2 hour lectures involved in the course together with the practical instructions were held in the Town Hall twice a week commencing on February 5th and ending on March 14th with the examination following on March 19th.

Immediately after the examination gifts were presented to the lecturer and examiner as a token of appreciation from the class.

Names of all who passed examination and hereby entitled for various awards are as follows:

Sixth year, Medallion label, William A. Christie,

Fourth year, Medallion label, Jakob Blaskovites, Cecil Finch, Jack L. Kenney, John J. Landysheff, John Miller, Valdemar Piegrass, Allen A. Watson.

Third year, Medallion label Stanley Greep, Bert Litchfield, Andrew R. Rae, Elmer Rusk, Varold Rolfson, Sidney Schow, Edward Wagstaff, Earl Zemp.

Second year Voucher, Junius Anderson, Jack Finch, Reinard Brandley, John Housley, James Hironaka, Owen W. Larson, Alexander Smith, Deloy Seeley.

First year, Certificate, Ezra N. Christensen, George Erickson, Jeanne Iwassa, Charles Matkin, Victor B. Miller, Karl F. Schneider, Fred Spaekman, Charles Tillack, Joseph Thompson.

Ken Knight returned to Raymond Saturday evening after having spent the past several weeks at Claresholm where he has been employed on the airport.

Scout Rally Saturday Night

The Big Scout Rally, including all troops of the Taylor Stake, will be held Saturday evening in the Opera House. The last episode will feature the life of the Late Lord Robert Baden-Powell in pageant and this will be directed by Leon Harker. The subject of this pageant, perhaps more than any other person, has brought scouting to its present high standards, and in memory of the work of this great man, this pageant will be given.

The first episode, directed by Chas. S. Matkin, District Commissioner will be the singing "O Canada," a speech of Welcome and the Scout Friendship Circle.

Leon Harker, T. W. Meldrum and A. M. Cooper will have charge of episode two, and featured here will be Scout Races and Games of all kinds.

T. W. Meldrum, Assistant Commissioner will have charge of episode three, where Scouting skill and preparedness, displays and demonstrations will be given.

The last episode will feature the life of the Late Lord Robert Baden-Powell in pageant and this will be directed by Leon Harker. The subject of this pageant, perhaps more than any other person, has brought scouting to its present high standards, and in memory of the work of this great man, this pageant will be given.

This will be followed by the awarding of prizes, flag lowering and the national anthem.

The sponsors of this Rally are hoping that the hall will be filled with spectators for the various program numbers and that through this scouting will receive an added impetus for good in the future. The program is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m.

Yugo Slavia Rebels Against Axis

Yugo Slavia let the world know Thursday morning that as a people she was very definitely against any alliance of any kind with Nazi Germany and her wicked partners. Early in the week an agreement had been signed, apparently under pressure, that Germany could transport sealed trains of war materials and supplies across Yugo Slavia in her preparations for war against Greece and Turkey. Troops, however, were not to be moved across either by train or airplane.

News came over the radio Thursday morning that the Government which had signed the pact with Germany had been overthrown. Ministers who were parties to the deal had been jailed, the boy King Peter had been put on the throne, Regent Paul had been deposed, and the new man chosen to form a government and act as Premier was a soldier, and was a warm friend of Britain. This now puts Yugo-Slavia, Turkey and Greece in a solid block with Britain against the Axis powers.

We wonder how Benito and Adolph will like this turn of affairs. They thought they had an ace in the hole when Yugo-Slavia asked (?) to come into the bloc under German protection. Now they have received a pointed insult and if Herr Hitler dare, we imagine it will be answered with action. We just wonder if he dare? Britain has been preparing for the hour to strike, and if she is ready she would like to see him move. What will the next few days bring?

Back Of The Morale In Bristol

We have heard in the news of the great morale of Bristol. Now comes to us the story of how and everything and the leading that morale was built up.

"Bristol was in the forefront of Progress when it was 'modern' to discover America, and John Cabot was fitted out here. In those days no immediate danger threatened. Toil and sweat, blood and tears' seemed so unnecessary. But these men did work and sacrifice,—writing for the newspapers,—seeing local citizens. It wasn't long before the Lord Mayor and city leaders sensed the spirit of these fellows. They weren't selling anything, coined no commission and won no praise for what they did.

War came and immediately the Lord Mayor spoke out for morale. He was backed by all the civic and business leaders. To every home went a poster—"MORALE—How to play your Part." When Bristol's devastating air raids came the news that "Bristol could take it" went out to all the world.

"We all know now that you can't build character in a crisis when it's on you. You can only fall back on what is there. Bristol's true glory is her men in authority and private citizens who in the unmenaced years of peace spent and were spent to give her strength of character."

Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Palmer left for Calgary on Wednesday and we understand that Arlo is going to work Calgary and district for the Logan Knit for the summer at least.

Harding R. Brewerton Passes Away

NEWS NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jones enjoyed a visit the first of the week from Warren's parents from Stavely, Alberta.

After a cool and rather cloudy Sunday, the skies cleared and Monday was clear though some what cooler than the latter end of the week.

According to the Taber Times, Ellys Piegrass and wife are in Taber for a few weeks where Ellys will assist in the Beet acreage sign up.

Glen Stanford is preparing to move to his irrigated farm near Rosemary. His father came down from Stavely this week to help him make the move.

Doctor Hall was taken to the Lethbridge Hospital Sunday with a threatened attack of pneumonia. It was checked soon enough that he has not been very ill.

Elder J. Y. Card of the Alberta Temple Presidency and Mrs. G. H. Snow were speakers on the Genealogical program at the First Ward Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Karl Williams of Cardston sang a couple of vocal duets on the program. A large and interested audience was present.

The Annual Dinner of the Eighteen Ton Beet Club was held in the Marquis Hotel at Lethbridge Tuesday at noon. Frank R. Taylor and J. W. Evans of the Agricultural Department of the local Factory attended from here besides our eighteen ton growers.

Wilson Rolfson was busy Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday building a cupboard in Vely's Barber Shop for the Athletic Association's suits, basketballs, gloves, and so on. Our Jacks are getting some new trappings for the coming Dominion playoffs.

The Sunday evening meeting in the Raymond Second Ward was under the direction of the Genealogical committee and after the opening exercises Chairman Don C. Robb took charge. Bishop C. W. Burt of Cardston was the speaker of the evening taking prayer as his topic. A dialogue on class work was given by Alma Evans and Co., Monte Seoville sang two solos, and Mrs. Leta Jensen played a violin solo. There was a large crowd present and the program was thoroughly enjoyed.

Wendell Wilkie wrote his name into Canadian history Monday evening at Toronto, when he spoke to between 25,000 and 30,000 people in Maple Leaf Gardens, opening the War Services drive there. He was cheered to the echo as he took the platform and an interested crowd heard him reiterate what he has said several times, that the United States should and would back the Allies to the last ditch in materials money and armaments, and that if necessary United States ships would convey the merchandise across the ocean. Speaking at a given club luncheon Tuesday, Mr. Wilkie said it was democracy's job to produce more by co-operation than the totalitarian nations could produce by force, then we shall defeat them.

Raymond lost a member of its business fraternity early this morning in the passing in a Lethbridge Hospital at 5:40 a.m. of Harding R. Brewerton, aged 53, who died following an operation a week last Wednesday. The operation was successful, but he apparently did not have enough physical strength to combat the after effects.

He leaves his wife and family of four sons and one daughter, also his aged father and brothers and sisters to mourn his passing. For five or six years past he has assisted in Brewerton's Limited store, and has also operated the Park Theatre in Magrath. He will be greatly missed by a wide circle of friends and business associates.

Funeral services have not been announced yet, but will probably be Monday afternoon in the Raymond First Ward. Our sympathy is extended to the wife and family, and other relatives in their sorrow.

Mose Fromm was in Lethbridge on business Tuesday afternoon.

Reports were given on the Convention held in Lethbridge. A very interesting paper on agriculture was given by Lyman Jacobs, Principal of the High School. The members exchanged seeds.

The door prize donated by Mrs. E. Christensen was won by Mrs. F. G. Hall. The meeting adjourned by singing "God Save the King. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

A short social was held in honor of Mrs. F. Shaw and Mrs. Zabel this month being their birthday month.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. B. Nilsson on April 10th.

Leadership Course Now On

Conducted by Elder John D. Giles, representing the Presiding Bishopric and the young men's organizations of the Church at Salt Lake City, a leadership course is now in progress at the Stake House for leaders of boy's activities in the three Canadian Stakes.

Scheduled for last autumn, the course had to be postponed until now, and it is hoped by those in charge that all boy men of the three Stakes will be reached and assisted in their important work through the instructions given here. Elder Giles has specialized in this type of training for many years and is exceptionally well qualified for his mission. The Church realizes the importance of the leadership of the right kind for our young men, especially, and it is to give the boys trained, sympathetic and understanding leadership that these training courses are given. Those who have mentioned the classes are high in their praise of the fine work put over to produce more by co-operation than the totalitarian nations could produce by force, then we shall defeat them.

DO WE APPRECIATE THEM?

Our athletic officials are busy now digesting schedules of bus train and aeroplane, also tares on each planning the trip to Vancouver of our Jacks Alberta Basketball champs, who we hope will be able to eliminate the winners of the Saskatchewan-Manitoba series and then go on from here to meet the British Columbia champs. That it will be so on April 7th or 8th or 9th, whatever dates the Dominion body finally set as definite.

We wonder if Raymond particularly, and Southern Alberta in general appreciate the honors brought to us by our basketball players? There are many proofs that their efforts are appreciated. As a town of fans, who show their appreciation by attendance at games, for a town our size, we are without equal we believe. The yen to play is strong in our youth and as they grow up their greatest ambition is to get a berth on some of the other of our teams. To see hoops of various kinds on poles, barn ends, and even trees, and see kids from the cradle age up practising shots at these hoops are proof that basketball is in the blood.

These things are all fine and are appreciated. There is however the moral side of our support that at times appears to be rather lacking. Some of us appear to have the idea that every game should be a win for the boys, and when it isn't, then there's plenty wrong. The men haven't been coached right, the substitutions haven't been made right, the morale of the team is not what it should be and so on. These are the things that make it hard to keep a good team, and managers for them that are happy and contented in their work. This is the phase of our support that we ought to work to improve.

We sit on the side lines and coach our boys to be good sports and then in our comments and criticisms we exhibit a spirit the very antithesis of good sportsmanship. Every team has its losses, and it's in taking from these losses the strong points of the other teams that make champions. Every coach and every player makes mistakes, and possibly at times these mistakes cost a game. And yet, if everyone tried to run a team we would never win. When we get too caustic in our judgment let us not forget that these boys commence practising early in the fall and keep it up three or four nights a week to keep in shape. They make their living in the working hours of the day, and then while we sit and read the paper, or listen to the radio or go to the show, they are busy training, training, training. What for? Not for a pay envelope, not entirely for physical fitness but because they want to play basketball, and while they are playing they want to be the best. They buy their shoes and all accessories except their suits, and play to bring honor to the old home town. Are we willing to do as much in a community way to spread the fame and name of Raymond?

So we say, congratulations to the Jacks and their officials. Congratulations to the Idlers and the High School teams. They have all done well. With playoffs for the Jacks coming up, let's show our appreciation by encouragement and praise for what has been done and make the boys feel that we are back of them 100 per cent in the play off games still in the future. They will appreciate it and surely we can all do this and should do it gladly.

GOVERNMENT URGES EARLY DELIVERY OF BALANCE 1940 CROP

Farmers of this community will be interested in a statement made in the House of Commons by Hon. J. A. MacKinnon minister of trade and commerce in announcing the Government's 1941 wheat policy. Mr. MacKinnon said:

"I would like to suggest to farmers to keep storage space at their local shipping points filled as far as possible in order to prevent an undue rush of wheat in the closing weeks of the crop year. I wish to stress this."

"There is, I believe, no doubt that the quota system as it was applied this year by the Canadian Wheat Board has given general satisfaction, and in no small degree the successful working out of a quota system has been due to the splendid co-operation which the wheat board has received from wheat producers throughout Canada, from elevator companies and their country agents and from all those who have business interests generally in the prairie provinces.

All farmers should carefully study the Government's 1941 wheat policy with a particular view to making their decision concerning delivery of the balance of their 1940 crop before the 1941 delivery quotas become effective. The price which the Wheat Board will pay on the 1940 crop will have reached 76 cents per bushel by the end of July basis Fort William or Vancouver, which price includes farm storage. On August 1st, if the Government's 1941-42 plans are accepted by Parliament the price reverts to 70 cents per bushel coupled with further restrictions on deliveries. Farmers should not leave delivery off until too late in the season in case elevator space is not available at that time.

Monday night was First Ward Budget at the Capitol Theatre and a large crowd was on hand for the programme.

On Saturday, March 29th, there will be a frantic dialing of radios by listeners all over North America. For on that date, the Havana Treaty, signed on December 13th, 1927, will go into effect. This treaty or agreement was signed by representatives of the United States, Canada, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Haiti, Mexico & Newfoundland. Simply speaking the purpose of the Havana Treaty is to allow such frequencies to most Radio Stations on the Continent as will give them a minimum of interference, and best service to the most listeners. Almost all Radio Stations on the Continent will be affected by this Treaty, & some have been moved from one end of the dial to the other, while some have been moved only a few kilocycles. Some Stations, as well as changing their frequency, are increasing their power, which means better reception for listeners to these Stations. The only Radio Station in this district which is increasing its power is CJOC, Lethbridge. This news will be welcomed by radio fans around the Raymond district.

Listed below are some of the Stations which are changing their frequency on the 29th of the month with their old and new wave-lengths.

WEEKLY LETTER

PLANNING THE HOME GROUNDS

When building a new home, the necessity of a good plan is most important, since if a building is improperly located, it is often no easy matter to right the fault. For convenience let us consider the planning of a town lot just to illustrate the application of certain fundamental principles.

The first consideration after choosing a site is the location of the house. It should be placed a suitable distance from the road, near enough for convenience, but not so near that there is no foreground, nor so far back that there is too great a sense of distance. The size of the house governs this consideration to a considerable extent. For instance, a large house may be placed farther from the road than a smaller one and yet give the same effect. This method of planting the front yard can aid greatly in this respect. That is, a small house can be placed a considerable distance from the road and yet not seem too far by using a small hedge or none at all along with beds of low growing plants to break up the extensive effect of a large lawn. In like manner, a tall hedge or an open lawn will enable a large house to be placed nearer the road without giving it undue prominence.

It is desirable that the house be so placed as to give a sense of proportion to the property; that is, the lot should not seem overbalanced on one side due to all objects being clustered there. If the house is near one end of the lot, it can be counterbalanced by a garage, a clump of trees or shrubs, or some other object toward the opposite end. In like manner, if close to one side, the other side could be so arranged as to balance it in mass effect. It is well to remember that balance is not achieved by mass effect only. For instance, a large house does not have to be counterbalanced by an equally large garage, or a number of buildings and trees equal to it in mass. Just as a long handled lever will lift a heavy load so will a smaller mass of buildings, far from the centre of the lot, balance a large house which is nearer the centre of it.

It is possible, however, to have buildings so large that they cannot be fitted to the lot without giving a crowded effect. The cure for this condition is more property. Small buildings can give an equally unsatisfactory result unless steps are taken to give the house its due prominence. Always remember that the house should be the centre of interest, and all other things be subordinate. A small house, therefore is often made insignificant by a high hedge or tall trees. The object should be to grow smaller plants and place them about the house in such a manner as to accentuate the size of the house. Often shrubs planted at the corners will give the effect of greater mass.

These points concerning layout of grounds are important first considerations.

A weekly newspaper performs a valuable service in the city in which it operates by keeping the public informed as to local happenings and policies of civic authorities and organizations in respect to the town and district.

SEVEN IN THE AXIS

The whole Balkan area seethes with a new crisis. Turkey, calls up more reserves and mines the Dardanelles. Russia, perhaps merely for propaganda purposes, more likely through genuine fear of German power at the only gate to the Black Sea, protests formally to Bulgaria against the occupation of that country by the German Army. Greece prepares as best it can to meet the threat of a new flank attack. And from Central Europe come fresh reports that Yugoslavia is about to join the Axis. Hitler's hatchet men, von Ribbentrop hinted as much when he boasted of the accession of Bulgaria. "I am convinced," he said on that occasion, "that there will be more and more countries who will decide that their views are identical with ours."

If they do so decide, it will be at the point of a German bayonet and under the threat of German bombs. That is the way the Axis recruits members. To speak of an "identity of views" between conquerors and conquered is simply an exercise in Nazi cynicism. The Axis has invited membership for years. Not a single nation, with the exception of Japan, has ever joined of its own free will—and Japan needs no explanation. Who are the other members of the Rome-Berlin alliance? There are four of them: Slovakia, compelled to join the Axis when Hitler took Czechoslovakia apart by force of arms; Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria, all three of which signed the Axis pact when, and only when, a German army had been massed upon their borders.

Berlin, fighting this war in its present phase with propaganda more than with any other single weapon, would like the world—and particularly the United States—to accept its picture of "more and more countries" losing faith in Britain's cause, turning away from Britain's leadership, linking their fate to the "rising star" of the Axis Powers. But the blunt truth of the matter is that to this day, except for loathsome Japan, the Axis Powers have never had a single willing convert.

The "new order" which Hitler is building in Europe is simply a war front against Britain. It has no other purpose. It has no other future. It is a league of the conquered, Italy included, in which one voice—very loud and familiar—speaks for all. It is a plaster structure, resting upon no real identity of interest and for that reason, when it is shaken it will fall.

GOOD RESULTS FROM DRIVE

"Cash returns to the National War Savings Committee headquarters indicate the interest created in our recent drive," Walter P. Zeller, the Campaign Chairman, declared recently, in announcing receipts of $2,810,613 for the first six days of March.

Reports from 774 committees out of 1,857 show 1,204,482 actual "War Savers" pledged for the duration. "There will be many more when complete returns are received, but these figures merely emphasize the tremendous job still to be done."

To date we have signed one in ten of our population, and this leaves a big field open for our workers," said Mr. Zeller.

"If the receipts for the first six days continue for the balance of the month, the result will be most satisfactory, but that is an 'if' we cannot leave to chance. It is quite evident that the February Pledge Month has given a strong impetus to War Savings, but as this is a duration undertaking, the final measure of success will depend entirely on the cash receipts in the months to come," Mr. Zeller stated.

Toronto again overtook Montreal in the race between Canada's two largest cities, reporting a total of 175,030 as against 166,385 for Montreal.

During the past week, the number of committees going "over the top" was increased from 189 to 255. By provinces these were: B.C. 24; Alta. 31;

THE DRIEST OF THEM ALL

The following is credited to a Mount Holyoke girl simply because the book in which it had been scribbled was found in that college's library, where it may still be reposing in the stacks.

There it appeared on the fly-leaf of a textbook on social service and said it is that the author elected to remain forever among that great company of Anons:

"If there should be another flood,
 For refuge hither fly;
 Though all the world should be submerged
 This book would still be dry."

Alberta's motor cars will sport a touch of old British colors this year. Then new license plates will be similar to those perennially used in the Mother Country—black with white numerals. It is reported that the Hamilton manufacturers experienced some difficulty in obtaining metal, but this was overcome in time. It is expected that registration will advise previous records.
